

Dear Healthvision Customer,

Lawson Software (Nasdaq: LWSN), announced on January 7, 2010, an agreement to acquire privately held Healthvision, a Dallas-based provider of integration technology and related services to hospitals and large healthcare organizations.

We are grateful for your past support, and look forward to discussing the role Lawson can continue to play in your strategic healthcare IT initiatives. With this acquisition, you can have greater access to our deep healthcare industry business experience. You can also take advantage of an even stronger industry-leading solution to help simplify and streamline healthcare operations.

We are pleased to add Healthvision's expertise and technology to our healthcare portfolio as this reinforces our strategy to grow healthcare-specific offerings to better meet the needs of hospitals and healthcare systems.

As we work to combine Healthvision into the Lawson organization, you can expect the same high standard in customer service and support that you are receiving today, provided through the same resources you have come to know and respect.

We are grateful for your past support of Healthvision and look forward to extending our Lawson relationship to you. For more information about Lawson and what the acquisition means for you, please contact your account executive and visit www.lawson.com.

Sincerely,

Jim Catalino
